A REMINISCENCE.—Among the wounded of Fremont's Body-guard, who made the charge at Springfield, Mo., is the name of a young man who left our city on the morning of the 17th day of April last, with the Zouaves, bound for Washington. The irresistible fun which abounded in him soon distinguished "Billy" from all others, and no man in the First or Second Ohio Regiments was so well known and sought for. One of the greatest questions of the entire three-months campaign, in this command, originated with Billy and one of his comrades.

When at Camp Dewellon, noar Lancester, Penn, two young men might have been seen wending their way, as the novelests write, along a dusty road, toward the city. Darkness had just thrown her salle mastle ever that particular part of the globe, and stillness reigned supreme. They had passes which called for their return to camp at nine o clock, but "miscountable circumstances" delayed them, and the distant tolling of a town clock told the hour of twelve, as they presented them, and the demant toling of a town clock told the hour of twelve, as they presented themselves at the gate for admittance. They would probably have been pardoned for their-derellction, had not the Lieutanant of the guard noticed a "goose" in between the young men, each having hold of a wing. They could give no satisfactory account how the "bird" came in their possession and were "bird" came in their powession, and were gruffly informed "you must hold yourselves in readiness to report to the Colonel in the morning." They would have been confined in the guard-house had not Billy's humor come to the rescue. In the morning the geose was gone, but after diligent search it was discovered in after diligent search it was discovered in possession of a "Rover" and rescued. When the offenders were brought before the Colo-nel they carried the celebrated Roman bird with them. The Colonel looked very seri-ous, and demanded harshly how the goose came in their hands "Why, you see, Colo-nel, as we—that is—when we were coming to the carry. He dermed this a formulate to the camp the darnad thing flew right against us, and the severe concussion proved detrimental to the future prospects of the feathered animal, resulting in a broken neck and anapping the carotid arteries near the jugular vein. Well, Colonel, we didn't like to see the thing die, and we brought it to camp to see if the doctor would give it a powder or some 'chloride potassi.'' The joke on the Surgeon was so very good that the Colonel bid them go and sin no more.

P. S.—The goese was served up for dinner that day and the Colonel and Surgeon in-vited to participate. From that day until the end of the campaign, "Who stole the goose?" was the all absorbing inquiry.

ARRIVAL OF WOUNDED SOLDIERS. - The steamer Boston arrived at the wharf yestersteamer Boston arrived at the wharf yester-day afternoon between three and four o'clock, having on board Brigade Surgeon Bradford of General Nelson's command, Lieutenant Nugent and Rev. Mr. Bayless, Chaplain of Colonel Marshall's Kentucky Regiment, and Captain Berrybill and nine privates of the Second Ohio, wounded in the recent fight near Pikaton. near Piketon.

near Piketon.

The actual loss of the enemy is not known.
Eleven dead bodies were buried by our troops, and two wounded died after the fight. The inhabitants of Piketon said the rebels acknowledged a loss of sixty killed and one hundred wounded and missing.

Our troops in Eastern Kentucky have been ordered to Lexington, and are now on their way to that point. Colonel Metcait's Ken-tucky Regiment came down the Big Sandy on rafts. One of these rafts was wrecked in the rapids, about sixty miles above the mouth of the stream, and one man drowned. About sixty muskets were also lost. Second, Twenty-first and Thirty-third Ohio, and Colonel Marshall's Kentucky Regiment, are marching across the country to Mays-ville, and may be expected to our wharf on Thursday or Friday, en route for Lexington.

The following are the names of the wounded of the Second Ohio Regiment, who ared of the Second Ohio Regiment, who arrived on the Boston:
Captain Berryhill, fiesh wound in the arm;
Corporal Thomas M. Fish, in the shoulder, badly; David Hitt, in the face, badly; Patrick Fisherty, John Estrip, Hawthorn Wilson,
Joseph Carter, Corporal E. B. Simpsom,
Henry Giese (pioneer) and Stephen A. Coleman (account). Two or three of these men man (scout). Two or three of these men were removed to St. John's Hotel for Inva-lids, and the remainder to the Military Hos-

Seventeen wounded soldiers, belonging to the Kentucky Regiments, were left at Mays

having obtained treasonable letters, which implicated a young man named Christopher Hiff, of Ohio, Secretary Seward telegraphed United States Marshal Sands to arrest Hiff as soon as possible. For six weeks the officer has been on the alert for the traitor, and a day or two since succeeded in capturing his prisoner in Auglaize County, where he resides with his wife's father. Hiff was resides with his wife's father. Hiff was brought to the city this morning, and will be kept here until further advices from Washington, when he will be sent to Fort Lafavette or Fort Warren. Hiff is a young man, and was some years since engaged as book-keeper in a bank on Third-street. He states that he has lately been selling swords to the officers of different camps and forts, which is no doubt the fact, but at the same time obtaining information for the rehels. We do not think the Government would have ordered his arrest without it was in possesion of facts which will place Hiff in a very bad

Colonel Mulligan's Arrival.—The Cincinnati and Chicago Air-line, the Eaton and Hamilton, and the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroads bave very kindly offered a special train to Colonel Mulligan for his visit to Cincinnati. The Colonel will leave Chicago Thursday morning at eight o'clock, and arrive here by way of Valparaiso, Richmond and Hamilton, between eight and nine in the evening. A special committee leaves Cincinnati to-night to escort the gallant defender of Lexington and staff, from Chicago to Hamilton, where he will be met by other to Hamilton, where he will be met by othe committees from this city.

THE CAMPBELLS IN COURT.-Frederic Gardner, recently one of the Campbell Minstrels, was this morning fined $10 for striking Mr. Bideaux, the accamplished French vocalist belonging to the troupe. He alleges as the cause of leaving the company and the assault, the ill treatment of the members. Mr. Huntley, the manager, and other members of the company, appeared as witnesses. The affair occurred near the Walnut-street House, and probably would not have happened had the liquor which those gentlemen drank been of the usual good quality. They are good musicians, nevertheless.

Police Court .- Twenty-two cases cam before the Police Court this morning, of which nineteen were caused by drunkenness. Of all the woe begone, the wretched human beings we have ever seen, we think thirteen women who were on the prisopers' bench the most complete specimens. If women can descend to lower degradation, or get farther out of civilized society, we know not where they must go. Picked up in gutters and alleys, drunk, half clothed and extremely filthy, a life-long imprisonment were better to them than liberty.

BOARD OF PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS -The loard met this morning, and transacted the allowing business: The Cierk was directed to advertise for roposals to extend Court-street and Deer

The Clerk was directed to send ordinance to the City Council assessing special taxes on East Front-street, from the old to the new corporation line; on Hathaway lane, from hc Millan street to Windser; on Haun-street, from the Observatory road to a point two hundred feet south; on Dover-alley, f. om Einstreet to Plum, to pay for improving the same.

FROM WESTERN VIRGISIA. - Theodore Marsh and Leonard Swarts have returned from Western Virginia, the latter very sick. Mr. Marsh brings $10,000 for the families of the First and Second Kentucky Regiments and Tenth and Eleventh Ohio. The Ninth, Twenty-eighth and Forty seventh Regiments will be paid during this and next week.

Marshal Butts' gallery is in one of the back rooms of the Court-house, and although the collection of daguerecotypes is yet small, the inces of several noted villains are represented. The movement is gotten up by some of the parties recently indicted by the grand jury. They have employed able lawyers to act as counsel in their behalf.

NEWPORT NEWS. A Soldier Killed.—A very unfortunate affair took place at Camp Webster last evening, between seven and eight o'clock. A soldier named William Miller attempted to pass a sentinel, who fired at him, the ball taking effect in the hip, producing almost instant death. The deceased was from some of the border counties of Indiana. LAW REPORT.

COMMON PLEAS.

RESULT OF THE HABBAS CORPUS IN THE CASE OF THE VOLUNTERS.—In the matter of R. T. Scofield, alleged to be illegally detained in Colonel Taylor's Regiment, the decision of Judge Carter was announced yesterday afternoon. The Court thought that the matter about the pay of the soldiers did not seem to be the burden of the grievances of these men— it was rather that they had been consolidated with another company, and were not per-mitted, according to promise, to elect their own officers. As to the question of pay, the Government could increase or decrease it as they thought proper. It could not be looked on in the light of a contract. The law may not be as recruiting officers represent, and volunteers ought to know it, and know that The court came to the conclusion, from the testimony, that Scofield would have been satisfied to remain if Captain Crawford continued in the regiment; and it would not do to ask for a writ under circumstances of that kind, because volunteers must know, when they are mustered into the service, they must submit to such changes as the wants of the army may require.

Finally, the court was of opinion that there had not been that fraudulent representtion that would authorize a court to dis-

The court took occasion to remark that the Government ought to fulfill its promise, and be careful not to deceive the citizens, for, if they did, the reaction on themselves would be terrible. Scofield was then remanded to the custody

CRIMINAL BUSINESS,-James Ludlow was onvicted of stabbing Jacob Kelfer with intent to wound.

CITY MILITARY HOSPITALS.-Most of the sick and disabled soldiers now in this city are in the military hospitals on Third-street, and on the corner of Sixth and Lock. Not more than four or five remain in St. J Hospital, and few if any are in the Hospital, and few if any are in the Commercial. The condition of those in the first two named is far from being comfortable, netwithstanding the recent ebullition of popular indignation on the subject as expressed at the meeting of citizens in the Merchants' Exchange. The committee in the Mechanics' Institute furnish articles, whenever called upon, as they often are. In this way they have added much to the comthis way they have added much to the com-fort of the unfortunate sick, and have car-ried out the object of the donors. Still, though they do what they can, and the of-ficers in charge of the hospitals carry out their instructions in full, much will be left undone, which will demand a more perfect system of hospital accommodations and care. For this, higher officers will be re-sponsible.

COBONER'S INQUEST .- The Coroner yester-CORONER'S INQUEST.—The Coroner yester-day held two inquests—one upon the body of Peter Miller, a German, who died at his house on the Carthage Road, from apoplexy, superinduced by intemperance, and the other a servant girl living in the family of Mr. E. Fiskel, No. 367 Ninth-street, whose corpse was found yesterday in the cistern. It was supposed that she committed suicide.

ARRIVAL PROM THE KANAWHA.—The steamer Allen Collier arrived at the wharf last evening direct from the Kanawha. The officers report no news of importance. How was it John C. Brechinridge At once held office twice;

At the same time Vice I pesident The Cumberland Gap Expedition. A correspondent of the Commercial thus sums up the result of the late expedition to Cumberland Gap:

Cumberland Gap:

The amount of physical suffering caused by this march can not be computed. None can tell how many stardy frames will bend under disease contracted from this ruthless exposure. The mortality list of the regiments will shortly begin to make a record. Many of the sick who were dragged out of their beds in the London hospitals, to be tortured on the rugged roads, saturated with rain, and chilled with cold, must die. Many of the well must fall ill. Ab, well, there are enly two bundred and fifty sick in the Thirty-third Indiana; only a couple of hundred or so sick in the Fourteenth Ohio; only a hundred or so sick in the Thirty eighth hundred or so sick in the Thirty eight Ohio; only several scores sick in the Seven teanth Ohio: only a few hundreds alto-gether. If they die-recruit the regiments. The loss of preperty is nothing. The Government is rich. Only thirty horses belonging to the Seventeenth Ohio were knocked up and rendered unfit for service, and one died; one wagon was lost, and 26,000 pounds of ammunition. About the same report is made by the Fourteenth Ohio; so with each of the regimenis. But the moral effect of the countermarch is one of its worst features. The mountaineers of Kentucky regard it a retreat, and the prestige of the victory at Wildcat is turned against us. And so ended the great Cumberland Gap expedition.

But I beg you to wait, readers, for an echo from the Wildcat brigade. If I mistake not there will be a fierce growl ere long from the Tennessee camp, as vehement as the denunciation from East Tennessee, which you read a day or two ago in the Commercial. And I am inclined to believe that if the indignant letters of the Ohio and Indiana boys are permitted to see the light of public print, none will think I have colored the foregoing picture. W. D. B. the foregoing picture.

Governor Sprague, of Rhode Island, in delining an invitation to lecture before the Boston Mercantile Library Association, says: Words now are useless; action, constant and incessant action, from citizens and sol-diers, will only end this war, and bring an honorable termination to our present diffi-culties. It is for the young men to do this; our fathers are needed at home—they must our fathers are needed at home—they must not in this day march against treason and rebellion. Having fought for us the battles of life, it is now our privilege to perform a sacred duty to them—stand between them and the enemy. The time has come, and we may now imitate the glorious example of those patriotic men who established our priceless inheritance. We may now show to the world that we are worthy of being their children—worthy the age in which we live. children-worthy the age in which we live. I thank God I have been permitted to live in the present generation."

LIFE OF A COQUETTE. -There is an Eastern fable of a magician who discovered, by his ineantations, that the philosopher's stone lay on the bank of a certain river, but was unable to determine the locality more defi-nitely. He then proceeded along the bank with a piece of iron, to which he applied successively all the pebbles he found. As one after another they produced no change in the metal, he flung them into the stream. At last he hit upon the object of his search, and the iron became gold in his hand. But slas! he had become so accustomed to the "touch and go" movement the stone was involuntarily thrown into the river after the thers, and lost to him forever. this story well allegories the fate of a coquette.
